

888-MSDS-911 Launched

July 16, 2010.

Indianapolis, Indiana. M3V Data Management, LLC is pleased to announce the formal launch of their new emergency MSDS (Material Safety Data Sheet) call center. When M3V clients call 888-MSDS-911 they are connected to the call center which is staffed 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. The specialist can either e-mail or fax their MSDS to them in minutes.

According to M3V Data Management Vice President, Ross Olsby “when you step back and think about the HazCom standard for a minute, the entire spirit of the regulation is to allow workers access to critical information in case of an accident. We felt as though we had to offer products and services that not only help our clients comply with the OSHA regulation but that also go beyond the bare minimum Employee Right to Know standard and truly assist in the spirit of the regulation”. Olsby continues “If you can imagine a catastrophic event at a facility at 2:00 in the morning and an employee has been exposed to a hazardous chemical and they don’t have access to the internet and their backup MSDS system is inaccessible, they should still be able to have access to specific First Aid procedures or Emergency Overview information from an MSDS”.

After more than a year of effort, M3V Data Management has finally gained ownership of the toll free number that is the most clear and concise representation of the emergency service they offer. The call center has multiple, redundant power supplies and back up diesel generators in addition to redundant internet connections. In the event of a catastrophe at the call center, there is a backup call center that is also staffed 24/7/365.

M3V Data Management has been offering web based MSDS software for MSDS Management and SARA Tier II reporting to the EH&S community for 9 years. In addition to MSDS Management, M3V also offers software to track environmental health and safety tasks and requirements with automated e-mail reminders and escalated e-mail reminders if a task has not been started and a deadline is approaching. To learn more about the emergency MSDS service or other products and services offered by M3V Data Management, please call 866-388-4815 or e-mail info@m3vsoftware.com for more information or a 30 day free trial.
